AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR

PRSH: THE YEAR THAT WAS 2025 IN REVIEW

As 2025 draws to a close, PSRH reflects with deep gratitude on a year marked by collaboration, resilience, and the continued commitment of our Pacific reproductive health community.

Across our programmes — PEMNeT, Gynae Oncology, Family Planning, Midwifery Leadership, and MPDSR — this has been a year of strengthening foundations and preparing for the next phase of growth. While travel and funding timelines meant that some in-person workshops were deferred, coordination and planning have continued at country level, ensuring readiness for renewed activity in 2026. The PEMNeT team, in particular, has remained active in mentoring coordinators and refining training systems that will support wider implementation next year.

A significant milestone was the renewal and upgrade of the PSRH website, improving access, usability, and visibility for members across the region. The site now provides easier navigation, updated content, and a more responsive Members' Lounge — reflecting PSRH's ongoing investment in connection and communication.

Throughout the year, PSRH's monthly webinars continued to offer valuable opportunities for shared learning. Topics ranged from clinical updates on preterm feeding and vulvar cancer to sessions on midwifery leadership, gender-based violence, and respectful care. Each webinar represented the generosity of our presenters, facilitators, and participants who freely shared knowledge to strengthen the Pacific health workforce.

Behind every PSRH activity lies the altruism, professionalism, and shared sense of duty of members and volunteers who give their time, skills, and energy in service to our Pacific community. Their contributions — whether delivering training, developing materials, or mentoring colleagues — demonstrate that progress in our region is sustained not only by funding but by commitment and compassion.

We also acknowledge with sincere appreciation the support of our development and technical partners — RANZCOG, PMAG (NZMTS), UNFPA, WHO, and SPC — whose ongoing collaboration enables PSRH to continue building capacity, strengthening systems, and amplifying Pacific voices in global reproductive health dialogues.

Our gratitude extends to Johnson & Johnson and Medtronic, whose generous equipment donations have enhanced regional surgical and training capacity; and to the many members who have renewed their subscriptions and stayed engaged through the year, helping sustain PSRH's Secretariat and initiatives.

The PSRH Board and Secretariat have remained focused on governance and sustainability, completing key elements of the Strategic and Implementation Plan 2025–2030 and advancing preparations for the 2026 PSRH Conference in Tonga, themed “Fakakaukau ki he kaha’u – Building and Sustaining Our Health Workforce.” The conference will once again bring together clinicians, educators, policymakers, and partners to share Pacific solutions and strengthen collective action for women’s health.

Looking back, 2025 has been a year of quiet but meaningful progress — a time of strengthening relationships, refining systems, and reaffirming our shared purpose. Looking ahead, PSRH enters 2026 grounded in the same values that have guided us from the beginning: service, integrity, collaboration, and faith in the capacity of Pacific people to lead our own health journey.

As we celebrate this season of gratitude and reflection, we give thanks for every contribution, partnership, and act of goodwill that has helped sustain PSRH's work.

From all of us at PSRH — we wish our Pacific family a joyful Christmas and a peaceful, hope-filled New Year.
